

Wednesday 21st October

Adopt a Tiger

About Tigers

The Tiger is the largest cat on earth. They are easily recognisable by their red orange fur and black stripes, which they use for camouflage. Also, they have steel grey (retractable) claws. Tigers are great predators as they can accelerate quickly. Surely you wouldn't want this marvellous animal to die!

Facts

In the last century, 96,000 Tigers have died and 93% of their natural habitat lost, their environment perishing. In circuses barbaric people keep Tigers, they are malnourished and it is no wonder they are uneasy or aggressive. They are whipped cruelly, blood matts their fur, they want to die to escape their pain and sorrow. It is totally unacceptable to capture Tigers as they go through physical and mental suffering.

Issues Affecting Tigers

Farmers kill Tigers invading their crops. Also, there is Poaching and the illegal trade of Tigers body parts for Asian medicine. In Tiger farms Tigers are bred in cramped cages, Their bones stick out of their skin, they are like living skeletons, they have the horror of staying alive.

Your Gift pack

It is only £3 per month to adopt. You'll receive:
A dept magazine; a cuddly toy; and an adoption pack

To conclude, I repeat, do you want Tigers extinct. You can make a difference by saving one life. You wouldn't want to die would you?, Just think about that before you don't adopt a Tiger, if you do, well done, your Tiger will finally enjoy life.

Your use of persuasive language really convinces me that I should adopt a tiger!